

Bill C. from Las Vegas, Nevada

Imagine my very real surprise when I saw the ad for the return of the Daisy Model 25 at the 2010 Shot Show! As a young boy in the 40's and 50's, my Dad gave me a used Model 25 and at the time I didn't feel the equal of other boys who had lever action Daisy's. Mine had real wood and it shot farther and hit harder, but mine wasn't quite "cool" enough, at that time, anyway. Perhaps I was just getting nostalgic, but I went on a quest a year or two ago and found a Model 25. Not new, but fully functional and I was even able to obtain a replica owner's manual from Daisy. Now that I've found out they are available again, I wouldn't be surprised if I wind up at some store that sells them to get the "newer" Model 25. Thanks for bringing the greatest BB gun back so that America's youth can once again experience what I had so many years ago.

P.S. I could only wish Dad were still here to see me getting a new "25" and were able to enjoy it with me. Those days are sorely missed.