Thank you so much for bringing back my old favorite bb gun the pump Model 25. I wish I had it today. I'm a 65 year old retired fleet mechanic. I grew up in New Jersey. (Clifton) BB gun shooting in my basement every day for years it was a wonderful past time of mine, with the east coast rain every day as I remember it. My Dad built a target box with a piece of rug hanging in the back so the bb`s got trapped, and fell to the bottom. Gathering them with a magnet was very easy and one could shoot all day and never loose a bb. One day my Father and I were shooting together and a spider crawled across the cement floor. My Dad being a little mischievous said "bet you can't hit that spider". I took careful aim waited for the spider to stop and POW, (GONE).Ok the shot was only 6-9 yards. My Dad was shocked, that I had become so good with my Daisy pump. My Dad is gone now but those times and the millions of rounds I fired with no failures, is true. I now have 3 grand sons and when we can, we all shoot our Daisy Red Ryders.
